On October 1, 2019, Hollis Officers responded to an Ames Rd address for a report of a past tense burglary. A resident arrived home and found that someone had forced entry into the home. Officers learned that firearms, along with other items, had been removed from the home. Later in that same day, one of the firearms was recovered in Massachusetts during a separate investigation being conducted by the Massachusetts State Police.

The Hollis Police Department, with the help of the Massachusetts State Police, were able to identify a suspect in the Hollis burglary. An arrest warrant for the crime of Burglary was subsequently issued for Joshua Peno, 27, of Nottingham NH.

On July 28, 2020, Peno was taken into custody in Manchester NH. He was transported to the Hollis Police Department for processing. He refused the services of a bail commissioner and was transported to the Hillsborough County House of Corrections to await his arraignment in Hillsborough County (South) Superior Court.
